1908—230 students, 479 in all departments, faculty 21 !!

NEW FACULTY MEMBERS.

THE personnel of the Faculty is always a matter of the greatest moment to parents who wish the best in education for their sons and daughters. Whitworth, as the leading denominational College in the State, covets the best and has the best obtainable in this line. The new members on the Faculty of 1908 are persons of large experience, scholarly attainments and specialists. Whenever a change is made, and changes frequently need to be made, the Faculty Committee seeks to improve and strengthen the staff. You may possibly hear words to the contrary, but let it be said once for all that the policy of Whitworth is a progressive policy, keeping always in mind to get the best there is, believing that nothing is too good for the intellectual training of the young men and women of the Northwest. Whitworth will be the "Princeton of the Northwest." In eight years Whitworth has a property valued at over $220,000; six large, commodious buildings; excellent equipment in laboratories and studios; 230 individual students; 479 in all the departments; seven schools in one, and a Faculty of 21 enthusiastic, efficient professors and teachers. It took Princeton many times eight years in its early history to show like results. With the continued growth of this marvelous Northwest, this pace will be continued, and it is not hard to compute the logical outcome in the development of this magnificent educational institution. With seven schools in one, including civil and mechanical engineering, in which we are the pioneer among Christian Colleges in the Northwest, Whitworth offers what is obtained in the best classical Colleges of the East.

Owing to the death of Dean A. H. Heath, it was necessary to elect a new Dean of the College. Dr. Donald D. McKay, A. M., of Minneapolis, was chosen. He is a scholarly man of excellent parts and known as a great executive. He obtained his education in a number of leading institutions. In 1889 he graduated as a scholarship man in philosophy with the degree of A. B. from the University of Manitoba; in 1894 with the degree of M. A. In 1892-3 he took graduate work at Princeton. He continued his graduate work for the degree of Ph. D. at the University of Minnesota. He has taught for four years. Whitworth expects great things from him.

Dr. L. Raymond Higgins is also a new man. He is the head of the department of Greek and Latin Languages and Literatures. He is a graduate of Brown University, degree A. B. In 1898 he took his Ph. D. degree at Cornell University. Prior to his graduate study at Cornell, he taught Latin for seven years in Peddie Institute, New Jersey. The last six years he was head professor of Greek and Latin in Grand Island College. He is attracted to the great Northwest and the possibilities at Whitworth. He is a man of mature years, and is spoken of as "an able lecturer," "a popular.

enthusiastic, modern, progressive teacher," "a leader to accurate mastery of the subjects," "sympathetic and strong in discipline," "careful scholarly habits," "superbly neat," "a prominent educator of the state," and of "pronounced Christian influence." Whitworth is fortunate to have him at the head of the classics.

Mr. Laurence Phipps, A. B., will assist in the Academic Latin and English. Mr. Phipps was the highest honor student of Spokane High School when he came to Whitworth for his College work. He is an exceptionally intellectual man, and Whitworth does itself an honor to place this graduate on her staff as an assistant.

Prof. H. E. Hewitt, A. B., takes the chair of Chemistry and Biology. He is a specialist in these subjects. He is a graduate of Grand Island College, specializing in science, though he did extra work in the classics so as to obtain the degree of A. B. For the past four years he has been head professor in Science at Sioux Falls College. He is not wholly new to this section, having spent last summer in biological research work on the Pacific Coast. He will greatly strengthen the biological department.

The beautiful Gymnasium and Literary Hall is receiving the final touches and will be ready for occupancy September 16. The Christian Associations will hold opening days in their new quarters and will be there to minister to the needs of the new students.

On Convocation night a reception and inspection of the new building will be given.

STUDY MUSIC AT WHITWORTH.

 IENNA NEEL RIEDELBERGER is the new director in Piano. She is an exceptional pianist of many years experience. Her training includes study under such artists as Walter Petzel, of the Grand Ducal Conservatory in Karlsruhe; Xaver Scharwenka, of whom she was a pupil for several years; Otto Becker in Berlin, and Arthur Friedheim of London. She spent a number of years in Europe with the last two artists, and played successfully under the baton of the late Anton Seidl as a member of the New York Philharmonic Orchestra. Mrs. Riedelsberger comes to us from Albert Lea College, where she was director of the School of Music. She also was first piano and method teacher for four years in the Johnson Piano School, Minneapolis, and for three years director of the School of Music in Manning College. She excels as a soloist and interpreter of the famous classics, and possesses a charming musical touch. Her marked ability, attractive personality and grace, and enthusiasm, will do much toward advancing the standard of the school. She will have Miss Rachel E. Wilson, of Omaha, as first assistant. It is expected that Miss Persing will continue. Announcement of this will be made later. Prof. Albert Gray continues as head of the Voice department; Prof. W. G. Reynolds, Harmony and History of Music and Pipe Organ; Olof Bull, Violin, and Lee R. Gridley, Mandolin, Guitar and Banjo.

TO SCHOOL TEACHERS.

NOW is the time to consider seriously your preparation for the teaching profession.

College graduates are always in demand. We have more applications each year for places from school boards, both for the grades and the High School, than our number of graduates are able to fill. We make it a habit to find places for our graduates. We can do it, and should do it, for we learn to know our students intimately and can adjust places to suit the individual. This is of value to the prospective school teacher. We meet school boards all over the State, and they find our method gives eminent satisfaction. Whitworth graduates are in demand. All the graduates last year are located in excellent schools. We do not charge a commission; it is a part of our department of education. We have a normal department with courses in teaching, pedagogy, philosophy of education, school law, management, etc. Each candidate for a position is expected to teach one class a week in training work under the heads of the departments. This is invaluable to those who never taught before. This is worth a thousand times as much as a summer institute. Are you seeking to be a teacher? Study for the best place.

DEAN ALBERT H. HEATH died at his home on July 20. In his departure the College lost a master mind, a sympathetic and strong executive, a popular and beloved teacher, and a loyal friend. Dean Heath came to us three years ago from Northern College, England. He was a student in Culham College, Oxford, and the University Tutorial College, Cambridge. He was the founder and principal of Lowestoft College, England. His life was spent in the training of the youth for life's duties and responsibilities, he himself being the most illustrious example of how success in these respects are nobly attained. His influence with us will never die and his nobility of character and extraordinary type of manhood will ever remain with us as ideal.
